21 arrested in Grand Rapids, Michigan

Working in Michigan is always so nice

We've returned to Michigan for another sting, this time netting 21 internet predators who arrived at the house. The sting occurred the weekend of October 17th-19th. Predators streamed into the area from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. Their ages ranged from 20 to 65, but all had the same intention in mind.

We partnered for this sting with the Michigan Attorney General's office, as we had in the March sting operation. We can't say enough good things about their office, this sting was handled as great as the previous sting in March. This time we were set up in Grand Rapids and the law enforcement on scene were the fine folks from the Kent County Sheriff's department. It's been great working with you guys all weekend! The sting was filmed by our friends at Investigative Mechanics, who always do a great job.

These predators came from all walks of life, a mere six seven months since the last time we came to Michigan. The March sting netted 27 arrive, this sting operation saw 21 show up in order to try to have sex with an underage teen. Hopefully the downward trend continues as internet sexual predators should know that Michigan takes this crime very seriously.

Conviction number 300 has been posted, it is Asif Khokhar, a predator who had arrived at the Murphy, Texas sting operation back in 2006. He was charged in Harris County, Texas after news broke that he would not be charged in Collin County, Texas. Once the good folks of Harris County learned that an internet predator was walking free who lived in their county, they requested our evidence, evaluated it and used it to get the conviction on Khokhar.

Khokhar will now spend two years in prison, an illustration of what should have happened to every single predator from that sting operation had only there been competent and honest individuals staffing the Collin County DA's office.

For us, conviction 300 is another great milestone. When we started our operations in 2003, people critical of our work said that we'd never get one, let alone a hundred, let alone three hundred. Each conviction is a validation of the good work our volunteers do. That makes it especially appropriate that conviction #300 is the ultimate rebuttal against some of the most dishonest smears we've ever encountered.

Thanks to every volunteer who has been a part of our march to 300 convictions, and a special thanks to the good folks of Harris County, Texas in their work on the Asif Khokhar case.

Now, onwards towards 400! You can join our work in getting internet sexual predators exposed, arrested and convicted by learning more about our non-profit foundation.

Conviction #288▪ mansfield_tiger2007 - Fort Smith, Arkansas*Dylan Thomas aka Jon Schillaci arrested!

We have accomplished many things in our organizational history, but today an arrest was made that ranks up there with anything we've ever done. FBI top ten most wanted fugitive Jon Schillaci was arrested by the FBI in Mexico and transported back to New Hampshire to face outstanding charges from a molestation he perpetrated nine years ago.

We had begun investigating the webmaster of notorious pedophile website BoyChat last year. He went by the pseudonym "Dylan Thomas." At the time, we had no idea that Dylan Thomas would turn out to be an FBI top ten most wanted fugitive. We first discovered the Thomas-Schillaci links back on January 7th, 2008. At first, we were skeptical that Dylan Thomas was Jon Schillaci. With more research, our team became convinced that Thomas was Schillaci. At that point, we knew we had to act.

At the end of January 2008, we used some contacts we have and got ahold of the FBI agent in charge of the case. That agent, Laura Hanlon, was fantastic to work with over the last five months. Sometimes when you contact law enforcement, you get detectives or agents who think they are too good to talk or work with you. Agent Hanlon was and is the model that all detectives and agents should follow when dealing with private entities. Friendly, professional and took an interest in the connections we had put together.

We were in near-constant email contact with this fantastic agent about Thomas/Schillaci and his online presence. Ms. Hanlon epitomizes the best in law enforcement. From January 2008 to June 2008, we worked directly with Agent Hanlon supplying information about Thomas/Schillaci's online activities, IP addresses, recordings, etc.

We are very pleased with the arrest of Schillaci, we had dedicated much of our resources and time over the last five months to researching and monitoring his online activities. This man is pure evil, and we don't use those words lightly. He is every parents nightmare and our dream is that he will never walk free again. We have confidence that the justice system will finally finish Jon Schillaci for the rest of his life.

Over the coming weeks, we'll have more details about the hunt for Thomas, the work involved and the research that was done via our affiliated website, Wikisposure.com.

PJFI.org launched, non-profit status announced!

To long-time readers, it may have seemed to taken forever, but we've completed the non-profit process and now are an official 501 (c)3 non-profit foundation! We've been working on this for quite some time and are very pleased to be able to announce it.

With this announcement, we also are pleased to present the umbrella portal for all our various projects, PJFI.org. This website is a nice simple overview of everything we do, from Perverted Justice to Wikisposure to HowtoDealwithCreepyPeople and more. It will be an easy way for anyone to keep up on the various work done by our various endeavors.

As a non-profit, we have now opened our foundation up to taking tax-deductible donations. If you're one of the many people who have contacted us about that in the past, the information is up on the PJFI.org donations page. In the coming week or so, we'll have

Must-read article in LE Technology Magazine

For anyone following what we do, there's a must-read article in Law Enforcement Technology Magazine over at Officer.com. They go in-depth into what we do, talk to the law enforcement that has knowledge of working with us and covers all the issues surrounding what we do, from the much-ballyhooed "entrapment" claims that the general public doesn't understand much about to what we bring to the table for law enforcement stings in general.

If you want to hear about what we do from law enforcement that has witnessed first-hand what we do, check out Internet Watchdogs - Officer.com. If you've ever had questions or even, gasp, uneasy qualms about what we do... well, it's the article for you. This is pretty much the only article and reporter who has ever actually talked to police regarding the work we do.

We've been saying it for a long time and proving it even longer, our operations are professional, effective and one of a kind. Thanks to those in law enforcement for stepping forward to tell the world what it should already know: We build quality cases that stand up in court, we're professional and we work. It is simply too bad more reporters don't search out the police we have worked with to find this out for themselves.
