

About JPay

At JPay, we realize the corrections process can be challenging, whether you are dealing with the absence of an incarcerated friend or family member or feeling the pressure of making your next restitution or supervision payment. By providing convenient, relevant services and building strong customer relationships, we hope we can make this process both easier and faster.

“ The Most Trusted Name
in Corrections ”

JPay is committed to helping friends and family stay connected to their incarcerated loved ones through a variety of corrections-related services offered in more than 35 states across the country, as well as providing quick and reliable payment options for individuals in community corrections. JPay is a highly trusted name in corrections because we offer a fast and secure method of sending money, convenient and function-rich communications services, innovative technologies, and affordable entertainment options, as well as a variety of parole, probation, and post-release services.

Since 2002, we have prided ourselves on excellent customer service. Our dedicated service professionals provide around-the-clock assistance to both the friends and relatives of incarcerated individuals as well as to parolees, probationers, and others making community corrections payments.
