28th Annual ACPM Preventive Medicine Board Review Course

You can still register for the 2015 ACPM Board Review Course in Baltimore, MD. The ACPM course will offer Preventive Medicine physicians:

- A comprehensive review of the ABPM study guide and Exam Content Outlines that define the specialty of Preventive Medicine.
- A presentation by the American Board of Preventive Medicine to discuss current information on specialty certification and recertification in Aerospace Medicine, Occupational Medicine, and in Public Health and General Preventive Medicine.
- The opportunity to earn up to 38.5 Continuing Medical Education (CME) and Maintenance of Certification (MOC) credits.
- A unique opportunity to take the ABPM recertification examination for the specialties of Public Health/General Preventive Medicine, Occupational Medicine and Aerospace Medicine.

Online registration is closed, but you may register onsite.

Lifestyle Medicine Curriculum Symposium

ACPM invites you to a special educational opportunity for physicians to learn about lifestyle medicine-the recommended foundational approach to preventing and treating the majority of chronic diseases affecting Americans.

This symposium will focus on the clinical processes that ensure quality lifestyle interventions for preventing, treating, and reversing chronic diseases, and is just one part of a comprehensive lifestyle medicine curriculum that will be released this fall.

Attend this accredited, two-day symposium covering the core competencies of lifestyle medicine with key modules in nutrition and weight management.

August 23-24
 Hyatt Regency
 Baltimore, MD

Healthy Aging Summit a Huge Success

More than 500 people, including over 30 ACPM members, packed the ballroom, hallways, and meeting breakout rooms at the Omni Shoreham in Washington, DC last week to join leading experts in prevention, health care, and aging at the first national Healthy Aging Summit co-hosted by ACPM and the federal Office of Disease Prevention and Health Promotion (ODPHP), U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). Using a social determinants of health lens, the summit provided a blend of science, policy, and practice to focus on prevention in healthy aging and the upstream factors that contribute to living longer, healthier lives.
