MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

WILKERSON, Magistrate Judge:

The Court takes up this matter on Plaintiff’s request to review the issue of appointment of counsel. Civil litigants do not have a constitutional or statutory right to counsel. Pruitt v. Mote, 503 F.3d 647, 649 (7th Cir. 2007); Zarnes v. Rhodes, 64 F.3d 285, 288 (7th Cir. 1995). Under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(1), however, this Court has discretion to recruit counsel to represent indigents in appropriate cases. Johnson v. Doughty, 433 F.3d 1001, 1006 (7th Cir. 2006). In evaluating whether counsel should be appointed, this Court must examine the factors outlined in Pruitt and apply them to the specific circumstances of this case. Santiago v. Walls, 599 F.3d 749, 760 (7th Cir. 2010). The Court must ask: ““(1) has the indigent plaintiff made a reasonable attempt to obtain counsel or been effectively precluded from doing so; and if so, (2) given the difficulty of the case, does the plaintiff appear competent to litigate it himself?”” Id. at 761, quoting Pruitt, 503 F.3d at 654.

The circumstances presented in this case warrant recruitment of counsel. See Santiago, 599 F.3d at 765 (“The situation here is qualitatively different from typical prison litigation.”). First, Plaintiff has shown that he has been unable to recruit counsel on his own. Moreover, Plaintiff is legally blind, and the Court believes he will experience great difficulty litigating his claims.

Accordingly, the Court APPOINTS Attorney Michael C. Hermann of the firm Boyle Brasher, LLC, to represent Plaintiff for all further proceedings in this Court.¹ Attorney Hermann is encouraged to share his responsibilities with an associate who is also admitted to practice in this district court. Attorney Hermann shall enter his appearance on or before October 1, 2012.

Plaintiff is cautioned to consult with his counsel in this matter and to understand that it is Attorney Hermann who is the legal professional in this relationship. Without commenting on the validity of the matter in litigation, counsel is reminded and plaintiff is advised that counsel, even though appointed by the Court, has an obligation under the rules to refrain from filing frivolous pleadings. As a consequence, counsel may likely, from time to time, advise Plaintiff against taking a certain course of action. While Plaintiff may not totally agree with counsel's advice, he should realize that, in the long run, such advice will be in his best interest because it is in compliance with the law. Also, counsel may advise Plaintiff to pursue additional claims or to abandon certain existing claims.

Counsel, of course, maintains an ethical obligation to fully and vigorously represent his client, but only to the extent that it does not impede his ethical obligation to follow the rules of the Court and the law. If Plaintiff wants to be represented by counsel, he will have to cooperate fully with counsel. The Court will not accept any filings from Plaintiff individually while he is represented by counsel, except a pleading that asks that he be allowed to have counsel withdraw from representation. If counsel is allowed to withdraw at the request of Plaintiff, it is unlikely the Court will appoint other counsel to represent him.

Because Plaintiff is proceeding in forma pauperis, if there is a monetary recovery in this case (either by verdict or settlement), any unpaid out-of-pocket costs must be paid from the proceeds. See SDIL-LR 3.1(c)(1). If there is no recovery in the case (or the costs exceed any recovery), the Court has the discretion to reimburse expenses. The funds available for this purpose are limited, and counsel should use the utmost care when incurring out-of-pocket costs. In no event will funds be reimbursed if the expenditure is found to be without a proper basis. The Court has no authority to pay attorney's fees in this case. Counsel is encouraged to enter into a contingent fee contract with Plaintiff to address both the payment of attorney's fees and costs should Plaintiff prevail.

Finally, counsel is informed that Plaintiff is currently incarcerated by the Federal Bureau of Prisons at USP-Marion. Information about the facility is available at www.bop.gov. Counsel may use the Bureau of Prisons videoconferencing system to confer with Plaintiff. The Court asks the Assistant United States Attorney assigned to this case to facilitate those arrangements.

The Clerk of Court is DIRECTED to send a copy of this Order and the standard letter concerning appointment of counsel to Attorney Michael C. Hermann immediately. Plaintiff is directed to consult with his attorney regarding the filing of appropriate motions.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

DATED: September 14, 2012

DONALD G. WILKERSON
United States Magistrate Judge
