Indiana Department of Insurance v. Robin Everhart

Where:

Indiana Supreme Court

What:

When the estate of a deceased patient filed a claim for excess medical malpractice damages from the Patient's Compensation Fund, the Vigo Superior Court awarded the estate $1 million. The Court of Appeals reversed and remanded for a recalculation of damages, including a determination of the patient's "actual percentage chance of survival." Ind. Dep't Ins. v. Everhart, 932 N.E.2d 684 (Ind. Ct. App. 2010), vacated. The Supreme Court has granted a petition to transfer the case and has assumed jurisdiction over the appeal.
